OFFICIAL YOUTH CONSTITUENCY OF THE UNFCCC

Blue (Water on Globe, "LC" in LCOY):
Blue represents water, a critical element in environmental discussions, symbolizing life, purity, and the need to protect natural resources. It also conveys trust, stability, and calmness, suggesting a thoughtful and reliable approach to tackling climate issues. And Blue complements green, reinforcing the environmental theme.

LCOY: "LCOY" stands for Local Conference of Youth, a platform for young people to discuss and address climate change at a local level. The inclusion of the Pakistani flag within the "O" ties the event to Pakistan, showing it's a national initiative.

A small Pakistani flag is embedded within the "O" of "LCOY," signifying that this event is taking place in Pakistan.

Leaf on the "Y": The green leaf on the "Y" symbolizes growth, renewal, and nature. It also highlights "Youth"—the heart of LCOY—emphasizing young people as key drivers of climate action.

Orange 2025:
Orange is a vibrant, energetic color that symbolizes enthusiasm, optimism, and action—perfect for a youth-focused event aiming to inspire change. It stands out against the green and blue, drawing attention to the future (2025) and signaling a forward-looking, proactive mindset.

Circular Globe with Human Figures:
The globe in the center, showing green land and blue water, symbolizes the Earth and environmental focus. Surrounding it are colorful human figures holding hands, representing global unity, diversity, and collective action. The variety of colors in the figures (red, orange, yellow, green, blue, purple, brown) emphasizes inclusivity across cultures and communities.

Multicolored Human Figures
(Red, Orange, Yellow, Green, Blue, Purple, Brown):
The variety of colors in the human figures represents diversity and inclusivity, showing that people from all backgrounds are united in this cause. Red can symbolize passion and energy, orange for enthusiasm, yellow for optimism, green for nature, blue for trust, purple for creativity, and brown for grounding and stability. Together, they reflect the diverse yet unified global community working toward a common goal.

Trees and Buildings Inside the Globe: These elements suggest a balance between nature (trees) and human development (buildings), highlighting sustainable urban growth and environmental stewardship.

The logo for LCOY Pakistan 2025 uses its design and colors to communicate a powerful message: it's a youth-driven event in Pakistan focused on environmental action, rooted in national pride (green, flag), global unity (multicolored figures, globe), and a hopeful, action-oriented vision for the future (orange 2025). The green and blue emphasize the environmental focus, while the diverse colors of the figures highlight inclusivity. Together, the logo inspires young people to come together, think globally, and act locally to create a sustainable future.
